Uncle Dan From Democrat River

Dear Mister Editor:
 I would like to write my piece this week on the subject of jackasses and I hope you city folks will keep in mind that there are two kinds of jackasses, the animal and the fellow that acts like the animal. I'm confining my remarks this week to the animal on account of the fact that as a usual thing I write about the other kind.

I see by the papers where the House and Senate are now in America is predicting that in another five years there won't be no mules left in this country. The trouble, this piece says, goes back to the jackass, father of the mule. There ain't enough jackasses in the country, it says, to keep the mule family going. In other words, Mister Editor, the jackass situation is facing a national crisis.

I remember a few years back when Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon and Senator Sherman Cooper of Kentucky called a conference in Washington on this same situation. They had had a lot of jackasses confined in Washington but when the first time they ever had the genuine article, I don't recall how the conference came out, but I see where things has got worse.

One thing that worries me about the situation is that the Democrats might have to change their party emblem from the mule to the Fordson. When the mule election in 1960, I think looks like the country is on the brink of disaster on account of the shortage of jackasses. I never thought I'd live to see it.

The fellows up at the country store Saturday night was arguing about a picture of one of them ass in a magazine of a pretty girl setting down in some soft spot to get her contours for making a comfortable chair. About half the fellows said it wouldn't work on account of no two people had the same rear axle measurements and that a chair that would fit one fellow would be a torture for the other. I argued that a fellow could get his rear axle measurements coded like they type blood and then the furniture manufacturers could make chairs for all types. If you was a skinny old maid with a narrow axle you could go in and call for a chair A-2, or A-3 depending on the situation. If you was of more comfortable proportions you could call for a chair DD-2, or something. I'm positive they'll hit on something sooner or later, because it's now one of the greatest drawbacks to the human race is that in 5,000 years we ain't invented a comfortable chair.

County Chapter of the American Red Cross is anxious to join in this tribute.

More particularly, we would like to take this occasion to acknowledge our debt of gratitude to the Red Cross for the job they do for you by their newspaper and its fine and able staff in international work. The Red Cross is an interpretation that is vital in building the House and Mule Americanism. America is predicting that in another five years there won't be no mules left in this country. The trouble, this piece says, goes back to the jackass, father of the mule. There ain't enough jackasses in the country, it says, to keep the mule family going. Signing Period for Participation In Conservation Reserve Is Near

The sign-up period in Palm Beach County for 1959 Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank will close Oct. 10, according to Sam Schooley, County Ag. Stabilization and Conservation office manager.

On the above date all requests for establishing farm rates must be received by that date although the deadline for applying for contracts is Oct. 24, Schooley said.

Place for the sign-up is the Mounts Building on Military Trail at West Palm Beach of the ASC office at the new sub-outlet on SR 15 near Belle Glade.

County Signup For 1959 Soil Bank Now Open

The first step in the sign-up is for the farmer who is interested in the program to come to the county office and request that annual rental payment rates be established for his farm.

At the same time, the farmer should bring with him information to be used by the County ASC Committee in establishing contracts for 1959. The information should include: a map of the farm showing acreage and yields of the three principal crops on the farm for the past two years and acreages for other land use on the farm.

The Conservation Reserve is the only Soil Bank Program available for 1959. Under the program, farmers retire land from general crop use for 10 years and devote the reserved acreage to land, water, or wildlife conservation practices.

The Government makes an annual rental payment for the land and will also share the cost of establishing the conservation practices.

The average rental payment for Conservation land in Palm Beach County in the 1959 program is $15.00 per acre per year. Maximum payment rates will be higher for the most productive farms and lower for less productive farms.

For farmers who request, the county committee will figure two sets of rental rates: annual rates. One will apply if only part of the eligible acreage on a farm is placed in the Reserve. Another rate, 10 percent higher, will be available if eligible land on a farm is put in the Reserve for at least 5 years.

After maximum rates have been determined for a farm, the farmer will have two weeks in which to decide on participation, designate land for the Reserve, and apply for a contract. The farmer may defer his application until the end of the established maximum to increase the chance of acceptance because of the insufficient funds to cover all offers.

Important Safety Features Found In All 1959 Pontiacs

A significantly wider tread, a 60 per cent larger windshield, overall visibility area increased up to 37 per cent, larger brake drums and brake lining, a more rugged frame and chassis construction and a newly designed power steering unit that compensates for any unexpected power failure, are but a few of the bonus features found in the 1959 Pontiac that make it one of the safest cars in production today.

For the driver concerned with the maximum amount of good cornering and road-hugging characteristics, Pontiac's wider tread will be of vital interest. For motorists who want to see where they are going with unlimited visibility, Pontiac's tremendous increase in glass area will prove to be a positive attraction. And the city driver will discover more satisfaction and safety in Pontiac's big, new braking system that takes guess work and worry out of stopping.

More safety features have been built into the new Pontiac than ever before in its history. Most significant among them improvements in the wider tread, an exclusive Pontiac feature this year. Wheel tread, the distance between right and left wheels, has been increased 4.98 inches in front and 4.98 inches in the rear. Beyond enhancing the car's overall appearance by lending a low, wide silhouette, the wider tread greatly increases stability, riding comfort and resistance to cross winds.

A wider tread means a lower center of gravity and thus a greater resistance to rolling motion without loss in ride softness. Also, less steering effort is required on sharp turns because the lower center of gravity and wider tread decreases the shift of weight from inside to outside.

New, true-contour brakes have been moved inboard and away from the wheel itself for more effective cooling and safer, surer braking. Other safety factors about Pontiac's vastly improved braking system in an increase in brake lining area of nearly 10 percent, 39 per cent greater drum weight and a cooling flange on front drums.

Each of Pontiac's 14 sparkling new models have the same Vista-Panoramic windshield that is up to 60 per cent larger for better and safer forward vision. Narrow rugged roof supports in all models allow maximum visibility in all directions and total glass area increased as much as 37 per cent. And every inch of glass is protective safety plate.

For added safety and comfort the new tubular "X" frame has been made heavier and stronger and all bodies are further strengthened by the addition of a full length steel section within the boxed rocker panels.

Pontiac owners will find great satisfaction in the newly engineered power steering unit that contains a full-safe manual operation feature that gives the driver full control of the car in the event of a power system failure. With this compact unit the amount of correction needed to control the car is reduced and when the driver stops applying steering force the car's wheels return automatically to the straight-ahead position.

New Wonder-Torch power brakes have reduced operating noise and a two-to-one linkage ratio gives a lighter feel and a positive control, and electric windshield wipers, standard on all models, give constant wiper action under all operating conditions.

Pontiac's new Safe Guard speedometer, built into the hooded, non-glare instrument panel, prevents unintentional speeding and allows speed selections upwards from 15 miles per hour, providing both audible and visual warning signals.

Safety, Comfort, Performance

Featured In 1959 Chevrolets

A complete styling transformation along with more safety comfort and performance, has been announced for the 1959 Chevrolet passenger car line.

The cars, which will be displayed at nationwide dealer showings on Thursday, October 16, represent one of the most imaginative designs ever to come from the automobile industry.

In shape, and in detail, the new styling reflects the influence of a space-conscious age. Lines sweep rearward in a virtually level plane. Tops are flatter and visibility is dramatically increased.

Appreciably lower, the overall appearance of fleetness is further conveyed by an adroitly sculptured frontal area. At the same time, horizontal wings branch out from the center of the deck in a simulation of mobility that might have been conceived on the sands of Cape Canaveral.

While the unusual appearance will draw instant admiration, Chevrolet has not neglected other phases of engineering in its bid to continue the sales popularity registered by the company in 1958.

Here are some of the 1959 mechanical highlights:

A new six-cylinder engine, named the Hi-Thrift because of added economy through redesigning in valving and carburetion, gives up to 10 percent more mileage, plus more usable horsepower at normal driving speeds. Fundamental improvements in coil spring suspension, incorporating specialized controls. Refinements in the optional Level Air suspension to acquire softer, quieter operation.

Larger braking surfaces, benefiting further by flanged drums and 27 per cent more lining area, provide surer stops, longer life. Tires improved for durability and reduced in rolling resistance through newly developed cords, which run cooler, offer lower ride and last longer.

A Turboglide transmission of advanced design. One of two transmissions in the 1959 line, the quality of Turboglide has been raised to a new strengthened to supply the unit with an even greater durability margin. Making the unit more rugged for such loads as prolonged rocking, multiple disc replace cone clutches. Six active faces are applied to the reverse clutch, eight to the forward clutch. Other parts of the transmission have been similarly toughened.

The second universal joint in the steering column is a yoke and trunion type, with the trunion a molded assembly of fabric laminations impregnated with rubber, requiring no lubrication. It is located immediately above the gear box. Handling profits by the adoption of highway vibration by the trunion. Handling ease as well improves with an increase in steering ratio to 28 to 1.

The electrical system has been improved and simplified. The battery charging circuit is now separated from the generator-to-load circuit. Sockets are integral with a new trunk harness to permit replacement of rear light bulbs without removing the lens. The battery is more accessible for service. It remains under the hood at the right, but has been raised and is mounted transversely on the radiator battery.

Tube-on-center radiators have been boosted 30 per cent in area. An improvement devised to afford an adequate margin of cooling safety during long hauls on hot days. Dual exhaust systems are now equipped with two additional zinc-coated mufflers to soften exhaust sounds. An option appreciated on long drives is a manually actuated throttle setting. The control is released with application of the brakes.

Another troop may be formed if eight more names are turned in. The present Browne Troop under the leadership of Mrs. Milton Carpenter and Mrs. J. M. Davis has 17 members which is one over the quota. This troop meets at the Girl Scout Hut every Tuesday afternoon from 2:30 to 3:30 p. m.

An article in The Exchange Magazine states that business aircraft owned by corporations and individuals now exceed 26,000—15 times the fleets of all airlines combined. The business fleet flies nearly a billion air miles a year.

In Walter Lippmann's view: The ultimate power of the state cannot be entrusted to men whose conception of public virtue is that their integrity is adequate if they cannot be convicted of crime. It is not asking too much that in the highest real sense men must be made of what ought to be the general practice. They cannot excuse themselves by saying, "I am not a criminal," if they have done only as many others have done."

Bobcats Win 6-0
First Time Ever From Roosevelt

For the first time in the history of the football rivalry, the Lake Shore Bobcats won 6-0 over the Maroon Devils, the highest of West Palm Beach since Friday night under brand new lights on their athletic field.

Nearly 1,000 spectators were on hand for the victory-making game. In 1948 Everglades Vocational High, forerunner of Lake Shore, held Roosevelt to a scoreless tie. Last year Roosevelt stopped the Bobcats 19-7.

Friday Roosevelt won the toss and received. They were held at the 15 and pushed back to the 10 where they kicked out their 39. From that point Halftime the Bobcats took Quarterback Ira Wilson's hand-off and scampered around left end 39 yards and a TD. It was called back because of a teammate's personal foul.

After an exchange of punts Lake Shore ran out of downs on the Roosevelt 33. Roosevelt's Horace Williams broke loose for nearly 50 yards before he was dropped on the Lake Shore 18. That was the deepest penetration for Roosevelt all evening.

Midway in the second stanza Lake Shore kicked out of danger and Roosevelt took over on their own 15. A bad pass from the Roosevelt quarterback hitting by the Lake Shore defenders jarred the ball loose from Roosevelt back The ball rolled into the Devil end zone where Tackle James Nash pounced on it for the lone Lake Shore score.

Neither team's line was in excellent shape; however, the Bobcats played head-up ball and kept breaking through the Devil line to stop any long runs. Williams and Merchant handled most of the Devil running chores.

Coleman, Hugley and Vickers worked the ball well for the winners.

Here's the remaining schedule of the Lake Shore Bobcats. After a win over Roosevelt last week, Coach Ben McCoy will have his boys ready for "the clash with Gifford's Tigers this week."

each student in order to counsel him intelligently. (3) The faculty who need help in understanding the difficulties of the pupils and who wish a factual foundation on which to base a worthwhile instructional program.

(4) The student who needs help in planning a long-range schedule of school and work activities.

(5) The parents who request some tangible assurance that their children are making substantial progress toward a happy life and a successful career. Such a comprehensive measurement plan will provide for the evaluation of the total educational program of the school. It will attempt to determine the extent to which the objectives of the schools have been realized, as shown by objective evidences of increased proficiency, wholesome attitudes and wise choices.

The Testing
In grades seven and eight achievement test in reading, arithmetic and languages are given to show the teachers the facts, skills and understanding which pupils have absorbed; what levels they have achieved.

In grades seven and 10, mental maturity or mental ability tests are given to measure the learning ability of the student. In grades 10 and 11 the Kuder Preference Record Tests are given to provide a more complete and more valid picture of the vocational interest of the student, to discover highly motivated areas of activity for a given student which may furnish clues for possible vocational choices, and the stimulate the student to consider just how he feels about various areas of study or activity as a preliminary basis of making vocational choices.

In grade nine the state-wide Ninth Grade Testing Program is administered. It consists of the School Ability Tests which are designed to measure the extent to which ninth grade students have learned normal verbal and quantitative skills; and the Iowa tests of educational development which measure not only what the pupil has supposedly learned in school to date, but also what the pupil may have absorbed from many other sources as well, such as social work, church activities, newspaper or magazine reading and radio or television. In grade twelve the Senior Placement Test which determines how a senior ranks with other seniors in Florida is given. It will determine admission to state colleges.

Other Tests
The National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test is available to any junior wishing to take it at a very small cost. Although the primary purpose of the test is to select National Merit Scholars, the test results will enable the student to learn more about his educational strengths and weaknesses.

As a result, he will be able to approach decisions about his senior year in high school more intelligently plan for further education and training; and make a sound vocational choice with greater knowledge and confidence.

Through the co-operation of the State Employment Service, the General Aptitude Test Battery and Interest Check Lists are available to seniors who do not plan to attend college. This testing program is designed to help the student choose a vocation according to his interest.

Cold Season Failed To Put Florida Low As Big Citrus Producer

Gainesville, Fla. — Florida leads the world in grapefruit production, and is responsible for about a third of the world's supply of oranges, tangerines and grapefruit, according to a tabulation by Zach Savage economist with the Florida Agricultural Experiment Stations.

Florida produced 69 percent of the world supply of grapefruit last season and 76 percent the previous year. Other states of the United States brought the total U. S. production of grapefruit up to 90 percent of the world supply last season.

During the 1957-58 season low temperatures reduced Florida's production of citrus, but Mr. Savage says this loss was recovered for 31 percent of the world supply of oranges, grapefruit, and tangerines last year. In several prior seasons Florida produced 34 percent of the world supply of these fruits.

The Mediterranean area, including Italy, Spain, Israel and North Africa, ranks second in world citrus production. Other areas in which citrus fruit is produced commercially are Australia, Formosa, Japan, South Africa and South America.

Florida's production of oranges and grapefruit has increased tremendously since the 1935-40 period when it accounted for 38 percent of the U. S. Crop. In the 1949-54 period the figure was 64 percent and for the past season it was up to 74 percent.

Nation's Business reports that a majority of 157 top executives taking part in a recent poll expect their companies to do better in the next 12 months as compared with the past 12, or at least to hold to the same level.
